The Court made the following:

COMMON ORDER:

In these Writ Petitions a challenge was made to the notifications issued by the Government of Andhra Pradesh in respect of the Minimum Wages applicable to the various industries. However, the learned Government Pleader now submits that subsequent to the notifications, further revision has taken place in supersession of the notifications. They were not challenged by the managements. Under those circumstances, and in view of the issuance of the subsequent notification further revising the minimum wages, the Writ Petitions have become infructuous.

2. Accordingly, the Writ Petitions are dismissed as infructuous. No costs.
